COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday, August 25, 1906.

D. E. O'KEEFE, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

LA HONDA ZYPHERS.

Last Sunday a delightful barbecue was given by Thos. J. Coats at his place. Invitations had been sent out to friends and neighbors and they responded liberally to partake of the choice barbecued meats. After the feast dancing and singing were indulged in. Among those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Zanon, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Misses Mary and Lilly Zanon, Edith Wilson, Zolna Vincent, August, Emil and Louis Zanon, J. Vincent, John Machado, J. Paola, J. Wilson, Louis Bacalla, James, Armond and Louis Zanon and Thos. Coats and family.

A party of young folks here gathered seven gallons of huckleberries near the Virginia mill last Sunday. Louis Zanon has returned much improved in health from Santa Clara county where he has been for some time.

Len Sears has taken his departure for San Francisco to reside.

Arthur De Matto leaves soon for Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bettencourt have gone to Santa Clara.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The city council held its regular meeting Monday night and much business of interest was transacted. Dr. Maine, health officer, complained of the stench arising from the local slough and suggested that the old flood gates be put in repair so that the creek could be properly flushed every day. Street Superintendent Dickey told of the condition of the flood gates and was authorized to put them into condition.

W. J. McGarvey, the board's expert, presented an exhaustive report of the city's financial condition which contained in addition many valuable suggestions applicable to the different departments.

Plans and specifications were presented by Engineer Gilbert for installing the system of water pipe in Wellesley Park and the clerk was directed to publish a notice calling for bids for the contract.

Hynding called the board's attention to the fact that the new Chemical company which was about to start up its works in the Cullen property east of Mound street would not have a street by which it could conveniently reach its works during the winter months. He had ascertained that a good quality of Belmont rock could be delivered in town at a cost of $1.25 per cubic yard and recommended that Cooper street from Mound street to the Chemical works be covered with that material. Mr. Hynding's suggestion met with approval and it was ordered that the work be completed accordingly.

George Kreiss having completed his contract of rock certain streets was allowed to withdraw his cash bond of $4,000. There being a general call for sewer connections Mr. Dickey was ordered to make a purchase of sewer pipes at 15 cents a foot. After passing a number of claims the board adjourned to Tuesday night when the matter of macadamizing Roosevelt avenue came up. The city engineer did not have the necessary specifications ready at that time so the meeting was adjourned until Thursday evening. On Thursday evening the board passed upon the specifications and ordered Roosevelt avenue macadamized from the County Road to the town limit. The cost will be $3000 and of this amount $1000 will be paid by Mr. Goodwin who lives just outside the city limits on the avenue in question.

Attention, Voters.

The attention of voters is called to the fact that less than a month remains for registering. The register closes on September 26th and all desiring to vote at the fall election must register before that time. Ample facilities have been provided. Deputy clerks are in every town in the county so that there is no excuse for neglecting this important duty. Register now. Why put off longer?

Emperor Nicholas' navy may succeed in reducing the local revolution, but it never frightened anybody outside of Russia.

The Dear Girls.

Young lady, don't grab at the first good looking pair of trousers that comes along and say, "It's mine, because I found it," but wait until a sure enough man comes along. He may not be as Johnny on the spot as the other kind, but he will be there when the other one has made you tired and passed on.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued from the county clerk's office this week:

Henry A. Hyne, aged 38 and Elsie C. Murray, aged 29, both of Belmont. Henry Latta, aged 38 and Augusta Konrad, aged 29, both of San Mateo. Israel Breslauer, aged 31 and Louise Burkardt, aged 20, both of San Francisco.

Although the gloomy prediction was made a few months ago that the Francisco disaster would entail a heavy burden upon the taxpayers of the state, the reverse has proved to be the case. The State Board of Equalization is placing the state rate at 47 and 6 mills, which is lower than the rate. Edward W. Hopkins hopes to be the pioneer builder in the burned district, and has already commenced clearing his lot on the corner of Pine and Leid streets, for the erection of a seven story building. The contract for its construction has been let to the Woodruff Construction company, and S. H. Woodruff is the architect. Hopkins has several other buildings in contemplation, but intends that this one shall be first class in every way. In order that it may be fireproof no woodwork will be employed in the building.

This structure will occupy the site of the old Divident building, and will be so named. It will have a frontage of thirty-six feet, and will be directly back of the Merchant's Exchange. The first floor of the Divident building will be used by the clearing house, which will have altogether forty-eight offices. Hopkins has requested the architect to make the building as artistic as possible, and the first two stories will be after the manner of the French renaissance, and the upper floors will be in harmony with them.

It is estimated that the building will cost $100,000, and will be completed within three months. No expense will be spared on the interior of the building, and each floor will be in mosaic.

The dance tomorrow evening promises to be well attended. Woodside many of our village are laying in a big supply of this delicious fruit. Dances seem to be all the go now.

Honey moon in an Automobile.

Henry A. Hyne and Elise C. Murray both of Belmont were married last Saturday and immediately departed in an automobile for Los Angeles, stopping at Del Monte on the way. Mr. Hyne is the chief engineer for the Spring Valley Water company at the pumping works at Belmont. The bride has been for some time a reigning belle at Belmont.

It might be money in the pocket of the car to abdicate, considering the reduced rates a man of his age could get on his life in surance.

DUMBARTON BRIDGE PROJECT

The Proposition of Bridging Bay Discussed at San Jose.

A large number of representative citizens of Santa Clara Valley and several representatives of the Southern Pacific railroad company appeared before the Board of Engineers of the War Department Thursday afternoon at San Jose for the purpose of discussing the proposition to bridge the bay from Dumbarton Point. Those who appeared on behalf of Redwood City were: P. P. Chamberlain, L. P. Behrens, Geo. W. Love, F. H. Thorpe, J. V. Swift, G. P. Hull, D. R. Stafford. There were also large delegations from South San Francisco, San Mateo and Palo Alto. F. H. Thorpe presented and read the following petition.

To the Honorable Dumbarton Point Bridge Commission:

In the minds of the undersigned, representing the citizens of Redwood City, San Mateo county, California, and the Board of Supervisors of said county, there is no doubt of the expediency and absolute necessity for bridging San Francisco bay if the City of San Francisco is to rebuild, that port and the state of California to follow the lines of their natural growth and development. And from the information and advice we have on the subject we fail to see how any valid reason can be urged against the speedy completion of such bridge.

We are told that the people of San Jose and that section of the County of Santa Clara lying immediately around Alviso are opposed to the project and that they urge against the project, as reasons for their objections, its interference with the free navigation of the lower end of the bay and the removal of the "Big Stick" with which they have been wont to waive over the head of the railroad company in the name of "Water Competition" through which they are protected from high freight rates.

In our opinion the matter simmers down to one of personal interest on the part of a few who are crying "Wolf! Wolf! Wolf!" in raising the question of interference with navigation so we will look at that point and see what there is to it.

First, what volume of commerce will be interfered with? While we have no figures, showing tonnage we are informed, and we are satisfied that such information is correct, that the amount of right handled through Alviso and all the other small points is but a few thousand tons a year. The amount of business being done by boat is decreasing yearly as is evidenced by the letter of Mr. Cooley hereto attached. In this connection we might add that Mr. Cooley is a practical bay seaman of many years of experience in conjunction with his brothers and particularly as regards this portion of the bay; that the landing to which he refers, "Cooley's Landing," is located south of the point of the proposed bridge and therefore is subject to all the objections urged by that section which is supposed to be in opposition. At present, to the best of our knowledge, there is no regular line of boats having a regular schedule of time running down the bay. The few vessels which travel along that course simply make their trips when they get enough freight to make up a load and the element of time, as steam craft are concerned, with the necessary lights and buoys, there can be no possible objection so we may eliminate them from the discussion and confine ourselves to sailing vessels.

As the winds at this point are generally from the northwest, vessels coming from the direction of San Francisco would have no trouble whatever in making a course through an open space of over one hundred feet.

In regard to vessels approaching from Alviso direction, beating to the windward, the very utmost that can be said would be, that it would require a greater degree of seamanship to pass the bridge than is now used, but if the suggestion made by Mr. Cooley were put into effect there would be absolutely nothing to be said in regard to any inconvenience or danger in making passage through the draw. So far as funds are concerned, we are informed and assert, that they are favorable so far as velocity, and that dangerous winds very seldom occur. From what we have said in the foregoing paragraph we are satisfied that it will appear that the proposed bridge will not interfere with the free navigation of that lower end of the bay.

And that San Jose will still have water competition to rely on in securing such rates as she feels she may need for her protection.

But grant, for the sake of argument but not admitting it, that all that has been said and urged by those opposing the project is true, and paint their picture of ruin in the most somber hue, would not the benefits to be derived by their own section, this community and county, the City of San Francisco, state of California, and the Nation, far out weigh and overbalance their objections? Would not the picture of prosperity which might be thus painted be such a glorious one that its lustrous beauty would lighten up the scene of desolation depicted by our neighbors from the south?

What of the present condition of San Francisco with regard to fire congestion? The actual work of building not really begun and still with only one all-rail route into it the transportation people cannot handle and get off their hands the goods sent forward. If this is the condition now, how much worse will it be when bulky building material begins to flow in? Can sentiment alone, on a claim of injury to a small section interfere with the lifting of that desolate city back to her old plain, or even a higher one? We think not.

What does the building of this bridge mean? It means another all-rail route into San Francisco in a few months, and yet another when the Western Pacific is ready, for we confidentially believe they will come into the city by this same route. Does San Jose think she will be injured by having another transcontinental line pass within twenty miles of her limits? Does San Jose believe that when that second road crosses this bridge and comes within twenty miles of her doors that it will leave untapped the rich transportation field of the Santa Clara valley? Will San Jose suffer by having rail competition while she will retain her water competition source unimpaired? We believe, upon a sound second thought, the people of San Jose and vicinity will realize that their interests are identical with us of the upper end of the San Francisco Peninsula.

Bringing the matter directly to home, we say to you gentlemen, that were it not for the prospect that this bridge would in time rebuke the smelting works now in course of erection at South San Francisco, in this, San Mateo county, would never have been located there. That such a plant means the establishment of a community of from three to five thousand people and the employment of from one thousand to twelve hundred hands. The paralleling of our deep water frontage with the steel rails of commerce means the establishment of other manufacturing plant.

But let us look further afield. Let us take a large view of the matter. Let us look at it from a state and, even a national point of view. Can we as Californians do anything to interfere or hinder the great railroad corporations which are struggling with their competitors of the Northwest for the great foreign commerce across the Pacific? Can we hold back our support anything which will help San Francisco, situated on the greatest harbor in the world, from attaining the prominence which she seems destined to attain?

As Americans would we do ought other than give our undivided support of every plan which will tend to develop our foreign commerce, and this is one link in that chain, for by bringing together in direct, bodily touch, the two sources of transportation, water and rail, we cheapen the handling of goods and thus place our merchants in a position that they can quote a closer figure on their goods and get the trade we desire.

We attached hereto the letters of Mr. C. P. Cooley and Mr. Chester A. Lovie which we consider as having much importance in relation to the matter owing to the familiarity of both gentlemen with the condition of the bay at the point where the bridge is to be located, and by reason of the high standing of both of these gentlemen we feel you can rely with confidence upon their statements as being literally true.

Mr. Thorpe read letters from C. P. Cooley and W. L. Cooley, who are ship masters, showing that if certain provisions for the aiding of vessels which might wish to pass through the draw were carried out navigation would be perfectly safe. They suggested that the railroad should provide a tug which should be used to assist any vessel which might seek passage. If this were done and certain other precautions taken he thought there could be no special hindrance to navigation. Otherwise the passage through the drawbridge would be dangerous.

This closed the presentation of written testimony and the chairman called for verbal expressions. A representative of the Dumbarton Land company proposed that there should be an extension of time for two weeks to allow any further testimony or argument to be presented in writing to the Board of Engineers before they should make their report to the Secretary of War. This suggestion met with approval and Colonel Heuer stated that he would hold the matter open for two weeks.
